LOGAN CAPITAL LARGE CAP GROWTH FUND

FUND OVERVIEW

The investment objective of the Fund is long-term capital appreciation.

The Fund expects to invest principally in equity securities that are traded on U.S. exchanges. The Fund's process is "bottom up" and focused on superior security selection. The investment team utilizes a three-component process that includes top-down macroeconomic analysis, fundamental research and technical analysis. For a stock to be eligible for portfolio inclusion, it must pass all three independent components of the process.

The Advisor may sell a position when it no longer qualifies for purchase under at least two of the three independent components.

Mutual Fund investing involves risk. Principal loss is possible. Investments in foreign securities involve political, economic and currency risks, greater volatility and differences in accounting methods. These risks are greater for emerging markets. The Fund may make short sales of securities, which involves the risk that losses may exceed the original amount invested in the securities. The Fund may use leverage which may exaggerate the effect of any increase or decrease in the value of portfolio securities or the Net Asset Value of the Fund, and money borrowed will be subject to interest costs. The Fund may purchase and sell options on securities which may be subject to greater fluctuations in value than an investment in the underlying securities. Purchasing and writing put and call options are highly specialized activities and entail greater than ordinary investment risks. The Fund may purchase securities of companies that are offered pursuant to an IPO which may fluctuate considerably, may be subject to liquidity risk and could have a magnified impact on Fund performance. By investing in other mutual funds and ETFs, the Fund will bear any share of any fees and expenses charged by the underlying funds, in addition to indirectly bearing the principal risks of those funds including brokerage costs.

Fund holdings and/or sector allocations are subject to change at any time and are not recommendations to buy or sell any security.

The Morningstar Style Box reveals a fund's investment style as of the date noted on this report. For equity funds, the vertical axis shows the market capitalization of the stocks owned and the horizontal axis shows investment style (value, blend or growth).
